Beverley Amos: The Clancy Group - Group Business Assurance Manager

1. Challenge

Clancy have always been driven to try and ensure every employee returns home safely from work every day, as well as having a duty of care to members of the public.

They are committed to ensuring the risk of drug and alcohol misuse is kept to an absolute minimum and wanted to find a provider who could assist with education in this area when required.

2. Solution

After initial conversation, it soon became apparent that Clancy would rather follow the route of onsite, inoffensive, fast screening rather than undertaking cumbersome external urine call outs on every occasion.

Clancy partnered with D.tec International to develop a policy. D.tec provided educational literature for employees, and subsequently Clancy adopted onsite screening using the DrugWipe Dual and Drager Alcometer. 'Train the Trainer' sessions were provided to all of the Clancy Learning and Development Specialists and a screener network were selected to manage the random and with cause screenings where required.

3. Benefit

Clancy find the on-site screening solution proactive, flexible, and easy to manage.

D.tec International are a partner who are responsive to their needs when required and assist with regular material to help with employee education. All in all, a perfect multi-site solution!

4. Result

Clancy believe that on-site screening, allows them to investigate an incident fully and can highlight or eliminate if drugs or alcohol were a factor quickly and efficiently.

In addition, employees accept the implementation of random screening due to the speed, efficiency and reliability of the process.

By using the DrugWipe, a brand name that is globally recognised as the leader in roadside screening, it also helps with employee 'buy in' and confidence that Clancy are investing in the best.
